

Trivia Questions

Have you and your friends or family been searching for a fun trivia game? Look no further!

These trivia questions will truly put your trivia knowledge to the test! From hard science questions to general knowledge, this trivia game covers everything and anything. So, get ready for an intense night of trivia with all your friends!

How to Play

Before you and your family embark on a fun trivia night, it's important everyone knows how to play. First, make sure everybody has a pencil and a piece of paper to write down their answers.

Then, select one player to be the "game head." The game head is in charge of asking all the questions throughout the trivia night and providing players with the correct answers. Naturally, for every question a player gets correct, they receive one point. The game head can separate the trivia categories however they please, asking between ten and 20 questions per round. The player with the most points at the end of each round is the winner. Now that you know the rules, you're ready to play trivia!
