How to Play

Trivia is best played with a minimum of three players. If playing in person, each player should have a pencil and paper. When a trivia question is presented to the group, a correct answer is worth one point. It's best to play three rounds of the game. With the winner being the player with the most points.

A "game head" is normally chosen before the game begins. This player is going to be the one who reads the questions to the group.

In the event of a tie, leave 10 questions available. The two or three players must compete against each other in these 10 questions in order to determine the winner.
